Transformation for the Christian Doctors

Romans 12:2 - Do not conform to the pattern of this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind.

We have chosen the theme “Transformation” as we feel that Christian doctors & dentists today do need some form of “metamorphosis”. In a way, there seems no difference between Christian & non-Christian medical professionals when they practice medicine. All follow (“conform”) the conventional and professional guidelines of medical practice, most of which are quite ethical and humane. However, Christians should transcend their non-Christian colleagues in their practice, not only by not following the vices in the professions (such as professional jealousy, greediness for financial rewards, treating their patients as experimental objects, etc.), but should act according to the aptitudes of God, like humility before their colleagues and patients, respect for life despite incurable diseases or disabilities, etc.

Understanding that there could be cultural and regional differences in the ethics of medical practice, listening and sharing personal and corporate experiences in different countries are very valuable.

Having a united spirit in fellowship & community, with mutual support and encouragement from each other can be very rewarding, especially in delivering the “good news” to colleagues & patients, giving glory and honour to God.

Please therefore pray and prepare your heart for a grand medico-spiritual feast in Hong Kong!

In Christ,
Ki-Yan MAK, MD
